

OVERVIEW OF THE OBLIGATION OF THE EMPLOYER ACCORDING TO THE RULES FROM THE SECURITY AND HEALTH ACT

Jasmina Obradović¹; Dr Vesna Marjanović²

¹ALUMINIUM INDUSTRY IMPOL SEVAL, Uzice, Republic of Serbia

²COLLEGE OF APPLIED SCIENCES, Uzice, Republic of Serbia

Abstract: The paper presents the obligations of employers according to certain regulations deriving from the Law on Health and Safety at Work. The aim of this paper is to promote the Health and Safety System at Work, as well as to improve and preserve the health of employees, all of this in order to prevent injuries at work and occurrence of occupational diseases and diseases related to work. In order to implement the requirements related to occupational safety and health, which arise from the Law, it is necessary to conduct overall and constant education of both employers and employees, as well as all other participants who have influence in making decisions in this area and the dissemination of the culture of work in that improves this area.

Key words: Law on Health and Safety at Work, obligations of the employer